

SECTION 15: FORCE PROTECTION

15.1 General. Force Protection is a security program intended to protect assets: people, facilities, and equipment. Please refer to draft "Department of Defense Antiterrorism/Force Protection Minimum Construction Standards" (reference 15a) which partially implements the requirement of DoD Instruction 2000.16, "DoD Combating Terrorism Program Standards," with Change 1, May 10, 1999, for development of antiterrorism/force protection guidelines for new construction. This standard provides minimum construction requirements that will be incorporated in inhabited new construction and major renovations. Force Protection guidance is also provided by OPNAVINST 5530.14c, "Navy Physical Security Manual" (reference 15b).

15.2 Section 14: Physical Security. Force Protection design and construction may include features discussed in Section 14: Physical Security. Please review this section.

REFERENCES

- 15a. (Draft) XX, 2000, "Department of Defense Antiterrorism/Force Protection Minimum Construction Standards."
- 15b. OPNAVINST 5530.14C, "Navy Physical Security Manual."